SUMMER REPORT!

Some older evangelists slow down in the summer. This is because many of the churches focus their ministries on the children and youth. Many churches send their young people to Christian Camps during the summer months. Many life-changing decisions are made in camps. Some summers we have had multiple camp opportunities, In others we have no camps at all. However, the other star of the church summer ministry calendar is VBS or Vacation Bible School. It takes a lot of energy to run a VBS. With the facets of our ministry: Puppetry, Chalk art, and Ventriloquism, we can attract and hold the attention of children and youth. Pastors also appreciate that over the years God has given us the ability to reach and teach young people of all ages. Add to that a Family Vacation Bible School program that allows us to involve not just the youth, but also the parents and other adults.

This year we have had a busy summer of VBSs. In fact, seven of the last ten weeks of ministry have been VBSs. We start both with a rally time where we lead songs, do puppet routines, and, with Family VBSs, chalk art. After the rally time we break for refreshments and a Bible Quiz in Family VBS, and a snack, games, or crafts for Children's VBS.

This period is followed by class time. Cheryl teaches the gospel clearly to children usually between kindergarten and second grade. I usually preach to third grade and up. In Family VBS we close with a revival-like invitation. In the Children's VBS we end the older class with an invitation and a closing rally time when we encourage the young people to return the next day.

This summer we have seen very good attendance. We have seen visitors come most every session and are praising the Lord for children and adults who have made professions of faith. We are encouraged to hear families that are searching for a sound Bible preaching church talk about attending the church after VBS is over. We have one more Family VBS to do before we finish with the summer schedule of meetings. Praise the Lord for souls that have been saved and believers that have been drawn closer to the Lord.
